

65,000 Are Idle For Second Day

Union Protests
Against What UAW
Calls a "Speed-up"
Of Assembly Lines

DETROIT, May 6.—(AP)—Ford Motor Company's River Rouge plant was locked today in its first major strike since 1941 as an estimated 5,000 pickets paraded peacefully before main gates.

It was the second day of picketing for approximately 65,000 CIO United Auto Workers, who walked out of work yesterday in union protest against what the UAW called a "speed-up" of assembly lines.

Nearly 80,000 struck at the Rouge plant, one of America's industrial giants, and approximately 5,000 more walked out at Ford's Lincoln-Mercury plant nearby.

Just how long the strike might last was anybody's guess. No immediate renewal of company-union negotiations for settlement of the dispute was scheduled. But the UAW would be agreeable to early peace talks in view of the critical aspects of a prolonged strike.

Operations Soon Paralyzed
The company has estimated that within approximately a week the worldwide operations of the second largest automobile manufacturer would be paralyzed. Ford has more than 1,000,000 production workers in 49 plants in the United States.

Picketing continued in an orderly fashion today, just as when the walkout began.

Long lines of pickets, some bearing signs saying "Ford is on Strike," lined up in front of all main gates at the massive Rouge plant.

Ford asked Dearborn police for more protection and protested against the massing of pickets at the gates.

But Dearborn Mayor Orville L. Hobbs rejected the request.

No Gates Blocked
No plant gates are blocked, he said. Anyone who wants to can walk right in.

All salaried employees not on strike were permitted to enter the plant.

Everybody admitted by the gates had to show a pass and wear armbands proclaiming "O. K. to Work."

All told, some 65,000 were on strike. The UAW-CIO also struck Ford's Lincoln-Mercury plant.

It was a simultaneous action at noon (EST) yesterday in negotiations.

Speed-up was the charge in both instances. In both, the company has made denials.

Cut Off Base as Supplier
The strike's immediate effect was to cut off Ford's base here as a supplier of automobiles and auto parts.

With Rouge as its nerve center, Ford has been turning out about 5,400 cars a day. Only General Motors Corp. exceeds Ford.

One source—the trade paper Automobile News—said the strike might take Ford cars virtually out of the market if it lasts a fortnight.

Ford has no more than 15,000 cars in transit to its dealers and the latter could be left without cars to sell in two weeks, the paper said.

Ford itself said that within nine days all its other 48 plants would be shut down, idling 44,000 more workers.

Federal Aid
To Education
Bill to House

Would Help Pay
Teachers' Salaries;
Other School Costs

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—The senate delivered a $300,000,000 federal aid to education bill to the house today for the second year in a row.

The measure swept through the senate last night by a vote of 58 to 15 after all efforts to amend it were beaten down.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—Here is the vote by senators from Missouri and Kansas as the senate last night passed and sent to the house the $300,000,000 federal aid to education bill.

Missouri—Donnell, Republican, for the bill.

Kansas—Reed for and Schoepel against (both Republicans).

It would authorize $300,000,000 to be appropriated annually to help the states pay teacher salaries and other school operating expenses.

Many schools have lost teachers to better paying employers, an argument advanced by the bill's supporters.

By providing for the largest per pupil allotments to the poorest states, it is intended to more nearly equalize education opportunities through the nation.

Similar Bill Picoenhold
An almost identical bill passed by the senate last year was picoenhold by a house committee.

This year's measure, part of the social welfare program for which President Truman has campaigned last fall, had strong bipartisan support in the senate.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—Kansas would be entitled to receive $1,100,000 and Missouri $2,700,000 under the federal aid to education bill.

These figures were prepared to show the approximate amount of money each state would receive.

Allotments are based on annual income payments in each state and the number of school age children.

In the senate last night three Democrats, Senators Byrd (Va.), Connally (Tex.) and McClellan (Md.), voted with 12 Republicans against the bill. Thirty-six Democrats and 12 Republicans voted for it.

The differences among Republicans over this type of legislation were pointed up in the closing debate, as the bill was attacked by Senators Wherry (R-Neb.), Bridges (R-N.H.) and Eaton (R-Mont.).

Charge of "Socialistic"
Wherry, the GOP floor leader, charged that the bill was "socialistic" and "un-American."

He said it was "a bill to take the money out of the pockets of the taxpayers and give it to the teachers and the school children."

Observance of
Mother's Day
On Next Sunday

Sunday is Mother's Day, the day set aside in honor of motherhood. This year is the thirty-sixth anniversary since the Mother's Day bill was passed in Congress in 1913.

Carnations are worn on Mother's Day because they are a symbol of pure love.

The white carnation is worn if the mother is deceased, and the pink if the mother is alive.

The most appropriate way to describe the purpose of Mother's Day can be summed up in the words of Miss Anna Jarvis, one of the instigators of the sentiment now back of its observance, with the words: "In honor of the best mother in the world—your mother."

Boonville Man
Is Found Dead

BOONVILLE, Mo., May 6.—(AP)—Horbert Blank, 40, city collector, was found shot to death early today in his motor car.

The body was on the back seat of the car and bore a wound in the right temple. On the floor was a .410 gauge pistol.

Dr. M. L. Dieckroger, coroner, said evidence indicated it was a case of suicide and probably no inquest would be held.

Mrs. Blank, who said her husband had been in ill health, initiated a search for him when he failed to return home during the night. A brother, Herbert Blank, found the car parked near the courthouse.

A World War II veteran, Blank became city collector in April, 1948.

He is survived by his wife and five children.

Taking part in the panel were Mrs. George Lee, of China; Mrs. Christine Lore, of France; Mrs. Margaret Walker, of Germany; Miss Dandrun Gysel from Denmark and Mrs. Josephine Traylor from Egypt.

Mrs. Traylor said that the women of her country did not have much opportunity for education. They were trained in home economics to keep homes. They did not take part in politics and were entered in business except in a minor way and then fields were as teachers, department stores or dressmakers.

Facts on Countries
Mrs. Lore of France stated that her country offered equal opportunities in education, but that girls went to different schools and schools with the same standards and the colleges were together. Business opportunities for women were about the same as for men and for the past five years women have been permitted to vote.

Mrs. Walker said that there were four years of grade school and then examinations if they could pass twelve years of high school for the children might enter trade schools. The business opportunities were about the same as for men but there was a three year apprenticeship after which they must pass an examination.

Miss Gysel gave the facts about her country with a distinct bit of humor. She is an engineering student and said that education in Sweden was free.

Olympia is Favored
In Running Race;
Big Event of Year

By John Chandler

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6.—(AP)—Halt, from the Woodvale farm of Mrs. Royce G. Martin, was the first horse entered today for the 55th Diamond Jubilee Kentucky Derby.

Trainer Woody Stephens came into the Churchill Downs secretary's office at 7:09 a.m. Central Standard time, nine minutes after the entry book opened, and said:

"Well, we might just as well get this thing over with."

Mrs. Martin, from Toledo, Ohio, has the Woodvale Farm at Lexington, Ky.

Nothing more showed for 35 minutes until trainer Dave Hurn came in and entered Lextown from the Lextown stable of M. A. Kern of Chicago.

Lextown is a bay son of Littleton-Lady Rosamond, and is one of the long shots in tomorrow's $100,000 classic.

Phil Reilly, trainer of Clifford Moore's Old Rockport, which upset Olympia in the Santa Anita Derby, followed Hurn into the entry stall to make it three of the 14 expected to go in the mile and one-quarter test.

Old Rockport is the only Texas-owned horse in the race. Moores has a home in Boerne, Texas, and has Walnut Hill farm in Kentucky near Lexington.

John Smith, Calumet farm agent, subbed for trainer Ben Jones and brought in Powder, owner Warren Wright's Derby hope.

Powder Son of Pensive In
Powder is a son of Pensive, winner of the 1944 Derby, and second in the 1945 Derby, and in the Derby trial here last Tuesday.

The sixth and seventh horses entered were the Greentree Stable entry of Capot and Wine List. The entry was made by trainer John Gavett, who sent out Greentree's Shut Out to capture the 1942 Derby.

Jack Town, another of the entries, was owned by the Affron Villa Farms was No. 8. He was entered by trainer Lester Jenkins, who said he was ready whether the track was "dry or fast."

At 8:15, trainer Ivan Parke, walked in casually and entered the 12 of Olympia, which undoubtedly will be established as the Derby favorite by tomorrow's crowd which is expected to be around 101,000.

"We're all ready to go," Parke said with a smile as he made the entry official for the race. The horse was owned by the Affron Villa Farms, which was entered by trainer Lester Jenkins, who said he was ready whether the

The Daily Washington Merry-go-Round

by Drew Pearson

JACKSONVILLE, Ala., May 6—The average Washington newspaperman gets his eyes so riveted on what's going on in the capital that he sometimes forgets what's going on in the rest of the nation. I know I do. That's why, every so often, I try to take a vacation from skullduggery-rooting and see what the rest of the USA is doing.

Down here in northeastern Alabama where the hard rock of the Alleghenies tapers off into the soft limestone of the black belt, I found a surprising monument to people-to-people friendship.

This is about the last place in the world you would expect to find such a thing. And if it had not been for Harry Ayers, publisher of the Anniston, Ala., Star, who is as much a crusader for the public as he is a publisher, I wouldn't have found it.

In New York and Philadelphia and New Orleans you're not surprised at finding international student houses. But not at relatively obscure Jacksonville State Teachers college in the foothills of Alabama. However, thanks to the tireless devotion of one man, Prof. James H. Jones, Jacksonville last week dedicated an international house just as fine in its way as anything in the great cities of the north.

Professor Jones is what you might call a true Servant of Brotherhood. He not only raised the money to build International House, but passed the hat to bring a group of students all the way from France, and send another group from Alabama over to France. The cash for this student exchange was raised not in Wall Street or Washington, but right here in Jacksonville and Anniston and Piedmont and the other neighboring communities.

When it came to building International House, all the home folks contributed. A Jacksonville plumber donated the bathroom fixtures. Someone else gave a refrigerator. A local lumber dealer helped with lumber or something else, with the result that a beautiful, though modestly appointed international student center now stands on the Jacksonville campus.

Alabama at 5 A. M.

Following the dedication of International House, the irresponsible Champ Pickens woke me up at 5 a. m. by long distance telephone in order to make sure I got to my next stop, Montgomery, in time for breakfast. And on that 120-mile drive I had a chance to do a little thinking about the way thousands of communities have responded to people-to-people friendship. Without any prompting from their government, the American people have put across Friendship Trains and Democracy letters to Italy, exchange of students, adopted European cities, welcomed the Gratitude Train and put across scores of other things.

In brief the American people are anxious and itching to do anything and everything to win the peace. They are tired of writing to congressmen. They do not altogether trust ambassadors. They know that if war comes they, not the diplomats, have to do the fighting. So now they are willing to do the working for peace.

So thanks to this people-to-people friendship we have vastly strengthened our ties with France, Italy, Norway, Denmark—in fact, all of Europe this side the Iron Curtain.

Iron Curtain Still Remains

But the problem of penetrating eastern Europe and Russia still remains. No matter what is done about the Berlin blockade, no matter what is agreed on at the United Nations, the danger of war continues as long as 14 men in the Kremlin can declare war overnight—with no Senate, no press, no church, no radio, no public opinion to put the brake on them.

Obviously these 14 men in the politburo aren't going to lift the Iron Curtain and let Americans into their country at least for the time being. But there's another way of prying the Iron Curtain partly open, and at least putting them on the spot. That is to invite 1,000 Russian students to come to this country.

At first blush a lot of people will hold up their hands in horror and claim that we might be contaminated by Communism. If we take that point of view, however, we have something of an Iron Curtain ourselves. Furthermore, our system is plenty strong to withstand contact with a few Russians, and the smartest thing the National Association of Manufacturers ever did was to invite Russian composer Shostakovich to tour the USA.

Almost every Russian who has visited this country goes back flabbergasted at our wealth, our freedom and our culture. Many become so entranced that they never want to go back at all.

When Andre Picard of the French Gratitude Train visited the Firestone Rubber plant at Akron, O., and saw the tiled swimming pool for workers, he remarked:

"If Stalin could see this he would understand why he can never Communize the United States."

Celebrate Blockade Lift

Jubilant German workers at Tempelhof Airport, Berlin, celebrated news that the blockade will be lifted May 13 by carrying on their shoulders. Airliners, left to right, are Capt. W. Fleck, Akron, Ohio; Capt. Virgil Benson, Russell, Minn.; and T/Sgt. William H. Stokely, San Antonio, Texas. (NEA RADIA-TELEPHOTO)

But so is war a lot of work—work and blood and death. The trouble with peace heretofore is that too many people took it for granted, weren't willing to work at it. Now they're beginning to realize that peace is like matrimony. You can't drop it right after the wedding cake is cut. And you can't drop peace right after the armistice treaty is signed. You have to work at both every day.

Well, I started out to write about the south and got sidetracked. I'll be back with more on the south in another column.

Admits Slaying Of Former Wife

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 6—

(P)—Doctors revealed Thursday a red-haired nurse's aide shot to death on a street here may have died of cancer within a year.

This bizarre development came shortly after a Texas ex-convict was arrested and admitted the pistol slaying yesterday of his former wife, Mrs. Sally Barner, 40.

Prosecutor Edwin Dunaway identified the prisoner as Robert L. Smith, 42, who until two months ago was an inmate of the Texas penitentiary at Huntsville. He filed first degree murder charges this afternoon and trial was set for May 23.

Morality In America

Television has marked another milestone on the road of material progress in America. We are a rich and great nation. We are also a people of good will and broad humanitarianism, as shown by the aid America has given, and continues to give, to the war-affected nations of Europe.

But how about American Morality? Our living standards have been rising steadily for decades. We spend tremendous sums on public education, on health services, and on regional projects aimed at developing natural resources for the benefit of millions. But on the moral plane we seem to be backsliding. Mammon is a very real god among us. We grow rich, we live longer, but we are suffering from chronic spiritual anemia.

In 1945 every fourth marriage ended in divorce; by 1960, it is estimated, every other marriage will end in the divorce court. Adolescent delinquency has become an appalling problem. We see painful evidences of dishonesty in business, treachery in politics. We have not yet curbed the blight of racial and religious intolerance. Good and evil are always engaged in a tug of war; but at this moment evil seems to be pulling way over the center mark.

It should be obvious that Americans need to think more about God. They need a religion that will stress the relationships between God and man; that will not whitewash evil or make sin seem nothing more than a medieval myth. Many successful men and women confess that in spite of their material blessings—good incomes, good health, an assured future, etc.—they feel an inner insecurity. They are not happy. Their trouble is that they lack spiritual anchors. Their lives, instead of being centered in God, exclude Him entirely, or, at the most, give Him just an occasional passing nod.

It is a tragedy when one individual tries to get along without God. But when millions give Him neither time nor thought, tragedy becomes magnified into a catastrophe beyond description. Religion is the only medicine that will put new vigor and strength into the soul of America. It is the only balm that will soothe troubled minds and hearts. There is no reason why America should not be a holy and happy as well as a great nation. By holiness is not meant mere piety, but an abiding respect for the laws of God and a willingness to give Him His due place in the home and in society at large.

Jesus Faced a Conflict Of Authorities

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

It is always safe to speak against sin theoretically, or in general terms. Everybody—like the minister whose sermon President Coolidge laconically reported as "against it"—can do it only when one gets down to personalities and cases, when one says, "Thou art the man," or "That action was diabolical," that sinners get nasty and strike back.

In the vigorous denunciations of sin during his last days, Jesus got down to both personalities and cases. When He spoke of hypocrisy He named the Scribes and Pharisees, the official representatives and established "authorities" of religion; and He attacked their specific acts of hypocrisy and evil doing. If there were devout and earnest Scribes and Pharisees, as there undoubtedly were, who had never deceived widows' houses, or done the things that Jesus denounced, they had no reason to take offense at charges to themselves. But there were plenty to whom His words applied.

"He taught them as one having authority and not as their Scribes." Those words mark a strange fact and a striking contrast. The Scribes were the repository of authority; the interpreters of the law yet here was a young man from a hill town, unimportant Nazareth, neither a Scribe nor a priest, with no official standing, presuming to teach and flogging the people who heard Him gladly.

It was no wonder that they said: "By what authority does Thou thus teach?"

These things? And who gave Thee this authority?" In the way in which official authority has always challenged the unofficial teacher, prophet and doer; and to a certain extent the challenge is justified. It would be a dangerous and preposterous situation if we had no standards for those who teach in our schools, or who practice medicine in our communities, or even for those who preach in our pulpits.

But a license and an evidence of authority, do not guarantee either honesty or efficiency in those who possess them. We well know that there are incompetent teachers and even some surgeons. Authority has its true validity in the power actually to do and to do what the authority authorizes. In the world of necessity standards it would be preposterous if an Edison could not give the world his work because he did not happen to be a professor of physics, or if a D. I. Moody could not do his great work of evangelism because he had no ordaining hands or if, of council, had been laid upon him.

The mistake that the Scribes made was two-fold; first, in not being and doing what they professed to be; and second, in their failure to judge Jesus by what He was and did.

There was one Pharisee who knew better. When Nicodemus came to Jesus he said, "Master we know that Thou art a teacher come from God, for no man can do these miracles that Thou doest, except God be with him."

A world of "authority" needs more men of the spirit of Nicodemus.

Birthplace of Truman at $15,000

LAMAR, Mo., May 6.—P—Everett E. Earp, owner of the frame house where President Truman was born, said Thursday a price of $15,000 for the place was satisfactory to him.

"In fact," he added, "just last Monday I told Representative Fred Cline that the state could have it for that price."

Today in Jefferson City a House committee approved a bill making the home a historical site and setting the maximum price the state could pay at $15,000.

"I thought I should have $10,000 for the place," Earp said, "but I cut $5,000 off the price if the state would allow the placement of a bronze plaque in the living room as a memorial to my father and mother."

"We owned this place for 30 years," he added, "and its the old Earp home as well as the old Truman home."

The property was purchased by the President's father, John A. Truman, in 1882 for $685.

Earp, now 68, formerly served as constable here. His father's cousin, Wyatt Earp, a famed western sheriff, was the first to hold the lot.

New Period Lies Ahead After an Accord to End Berlin Blockade

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—President Truman said today he is happy that big four agreement on the Berlin blockade provides a chance to take up East-West problems at the point where negotiations left off 10 months ago.

The agreement was obviously a relief to Truman and he declined to amplify it. He said that the agreement was a very important step in the history of the world.

One of Many Sewer Ditches to be Dug

This is the first of many such deep ditches which will be dug for Sedalia's new sewer system. The ditch is between 10 and 12 feet deep and will drain into the east pump station located a few hundred feet on the south side of the 2200 block on East Highway 70. In the distance can be seen men digging out hard rock after the ditch had been blasted four times Wednesday afternoon to lay up solid rock.

The new sewer system is a very important project for the city of Sedalia. It will help to improve the city's sanitation and to protect the city's water supply. It is a very good project and it is a very good thing for the city of Sedalia.
